FOR THE YEAR
1938

¶ The publication of this little book has been, not because of the vastness of the region, but rather that a permanently bound record of events, the people and vital statistics of this period might prove to be a valuable reference source in the future.

¶ Entirely upon the reception of this first edition will the appearance of subsequent annual editions be determined.

¶ Any omission that may have been made herein, was unintentional.

The Village of Alanson, in Emmet County, Michigan, is a prosperous little community of about 500 souls, located 10 miles north of Petoskey on the Pennsylvania Railroad. It is also intersected by the famous "Inland Route" water-way extending from Conway to Cheboygan and by the junction of U.S. Highway 31 and M 68.

Alanson is the trading center for hundreds of summer visitors and farmer producers. It's residents claim a larger number of artesian wells than any other town in the north and travelers enjoy to the fullest extent, the ever flowing water.

Evolving; by gradual stages, from a busy lumber milling town, manufacturing at various times, broom handles, cedar shingles, chopping bowls, etc. Alanson has arrived at it's present status as a center of support for summer vacationists, fishermen and tourists.

Anyone seeking rest and relaxation, or recrecreation cosisting of hunting, fishing, golf tennis, swimming etc. will find that suitable accomodations can be had by simply writeing to the Secretary :
